

To distribute wealth more evenly and general long-term returns that benefit society as a whole

Women are usually not a part of the personal finance decisions of the family

How to make investment accessible to all people

Gamifying investment + messaging feature

Ensuring people know their legal rights and assisting them with government filing (ex. W2)

Tracking investments more easily

Make it clear what will saving + investing do for you

Provide financial education in laymen's terms + an intuitive user interface to perform transactions (?)

Create a life planning feature (ex. college student, newlywed, starting a family, etc.) and tailor financial tracking/advice accordingly

What investments to make: mutual funds, bonds, risks involved

Nanolending: community based support - you have a few dollars disposable so you donate to your neighbor

Projections for how investments will perform

Daily/weekly updates on current events regarding the economy from unbiased news sources - this could pique people's interest in investing/other transactions + short announcements that inform people on what to do during economic turnovers (ex. COVID, Modi changing bill denominations, etc.)
